HOW TO PRE-BATCH COCKTAILS

SUPPLIES

- Swing-top Glass Bottles
- Funnel
- Measuring cup

WATER IN ADVANCE

When you shake a cocktail with ice, the ice actually melts and dilutes the drink. So, when you pre-make a cocktail that usually needs to be shaken, add some water—about 1/5 the volume. This ensures that each drink will taste balanced.

MATH

Our recipes here are in parts, so that you can make as much or as little as you need. One drink or serving usually has around 2 oz. of the base spirit.

TIMING

Make the batched cocktail 3-4 days in advance and refrigerate. If you're using fruit juices, make it the day of, because fruit juices and freshly squeezed citrus juice does not keep well.

SERVING

Serve each cocktail according to the recipe directions. Some are over ice, others are poured into a chilled glass, and others are blended with crushed ice.

CANALE TORINO

12 SERVINGS / 2 OZ OF CAPPELLETTI PER SERVING

INGREDIENTS

- 2 parts Cappelletti Aperitivo
- 2 parts Dry Vermouth (Noilly Prat Extra Dry Vermouth)
